

MALÖ 45

Malö Yachts are pleased to announce the launch of the NEW Malö 45. There have been requests for larger yachts from our customers and we have therefore been working with our designer to bring you our new model.

Designed by Leif Ängermark , the hull of the Malö 45 offers her owner a very manoeuvrable boat under sail and power. This is not surprising when you take into account her sweet lines, maximum waterline length and beam thus ensuring excellent stability.

The Malö 45 combines the latest in design technology with hundreds of hours of engineering time spend developing a yachts that can set sail for all ports of call around the world with ease.

Malö Yachts 45 is a yacht to be proud of. Built as a genuine offshore yacht for the discerning sailor, she is ideal for serious, long distance cruising as well as ample living accommodation aboard.

Malö Yachts are one of Scandinavia's oldest, most experienced yacht builders. We may not be the biggest yard, but we have always maintained a team of excellent boat builders who have a very good fundamental understanding of sailing evidence of this can be found throughout the boat.

The cockpit is deep, uncluttered and well protected. The re-enforced Targa-arch supporting the mainsheet traveller keeps loose ropes out of the way and heads out of danger, at the same time acting as an ideal support for such items as the grab rails, sprayhood, cockpit canopy and light fittings.

Take a stroll over the immaculate hand-laid teak deck and notice the clever self-stowing anchor arrangement. Admire the quality of the cleats, stanchions and other deck ware - they are all bolted through into metal backing plates firmly laminated to the hull and deck.

There are never two identical Malö 45s, as each owner is encouraged to personalise his/her boat in terms of the interior layout and fittings. Bearing in mind the basic shape and design of the hull, we can customise interiors or modify any of our standard layouts. This level of individual boat building is only possible with a small, dedicated team of flexible craftsmen such as we have at Malö Yachts.
