Malo Yachts celebrates 70 years!

It was in March 1939 as Johannes Olsson was established in Kungsviken and started the yard. In 1963 the two sons of Johannes, Bo and Orvar took over the business and kept on until 1983. Then Bengt and Lars Olsson, Bo's sons stepped in and continued to develop Malo Yachts to what it is today. A Jubilee that is a well worth celebrating! And we are doing that by adding some extra "spice" to the exhibition "Open yards" in Kungsviken. As usual, you are always welcome for coffee and bun.

Tip! Visit our Nostalgia Bridge where we show a selection of our older Malö models.

Welcome to celebrate with us!

And to make this event even more exciting, we will on Saturday and Sunday have interesting tasty lectures themed "Sail longer distance", see below.

Hybrid Technology

Malö Yachts participating in Project HYMAR, recently awarded money from the EU's fund. The project aims to develop a Marin Hybrid engine. Nigel Calder and his Malö 46: "Nada" is the test base in this project. There is, as everyone knows already the corresponding operator in the automotive industry that has reached very far in the development of hybrid engines. We therefore felt that it was appropriate to invite one of the most successful to Kungsviken. Toyota will be on site and show some of their "green" cars as the Toyota Aygo and the Toyota IQ, and their hybrid Toyota Prius.

Theme Lectures

This year we have chosen theme "Sail longer distance." We have invited two speakers. Nigel Calder will on Saturday talk about how a long distance boat should be built and shortly thereafter Roland Mårtensson will be telling you about how it is to sail to Scotland. Roland lecture will end with whiskytasting by Johan Groth, whiskey ambassador from Diageo. NOTE! limited number of places. Roland lectures begins with sweet tones from our bagpipe piper on site. On Sunday Nigel changing theme of his lecture and tells about the project HYMAR. There is also an opportunity to take a look at "Nada".
